A New Outlook at BHS

With the changing of the page design and the overall look of the Brenhamite, also came the changes in the school for the 77-78 year.

A new superintendent, Edwin Casburn, took over the administrative duties of the district. Coach Charlie Matejowski began his quest for championship in every activity.

The students lost one of their most prized privileges — exemptions — and the quarter test took on new meaning to many. The exemption policy was retained for the seniors but only for the last quarter. The quarter famous for "senioritis."

New Colors, Ideas Add Spark

As the year began, our school dazzled you with new fire and color. The fire of the spirit of competition and the new Cub colors — silver, green, and white. Also, you had our looks, on school different from before.

Now, those who fought without fame, the junior-varsity athletic members, had cheerleaders. And, a step into the past brought back the naming of ten top seniors based on not only scholastic ability but the involvement both in and out of school.

Later, a necessity was filled, and a new boiler warmed a freezing school bringing a little life into the winter students, refreshing the students' outlook on school.

So, with these things the modernized exterior and interior view of the yearbooks, and many other things came the "new outlooks" at BHS.

Booster Club Holds Picnic

The Brenham Booster Club kicked off the 1977 Cub football season with their annual barbecue on Friday, August 12, at Firemen's Park.

This year's guest speaker was Donnie Wiggington, an offensive football coach for Texas A&M.

There were many groups who helped with the barbecue, including the cheerleaders, the Belles, the coaches' wives, and Booster Club members.

Regina Ellermann received an award for selling the most tickets to the barbecue.

Staff Distributes, Sells Yearbooks

Yearbook distribution started on August 23. This was the day after registration. The Journalism II class, which puts the yearbook together, distributed the yearbooks on the day before we went back to school.

The yearbook assembly was held on September 28 to describe the yearbook and to tell what the cost would be. There was a slide show with slides from yearbooks of the 50's.

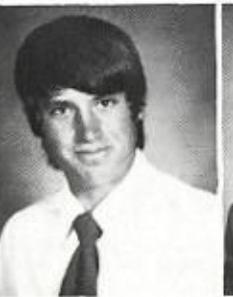

The sale started the first week in October and lasted for two weeks. The cost went up to $15.00; but a yearbook is forever.

Students Elected to Help Control School Government

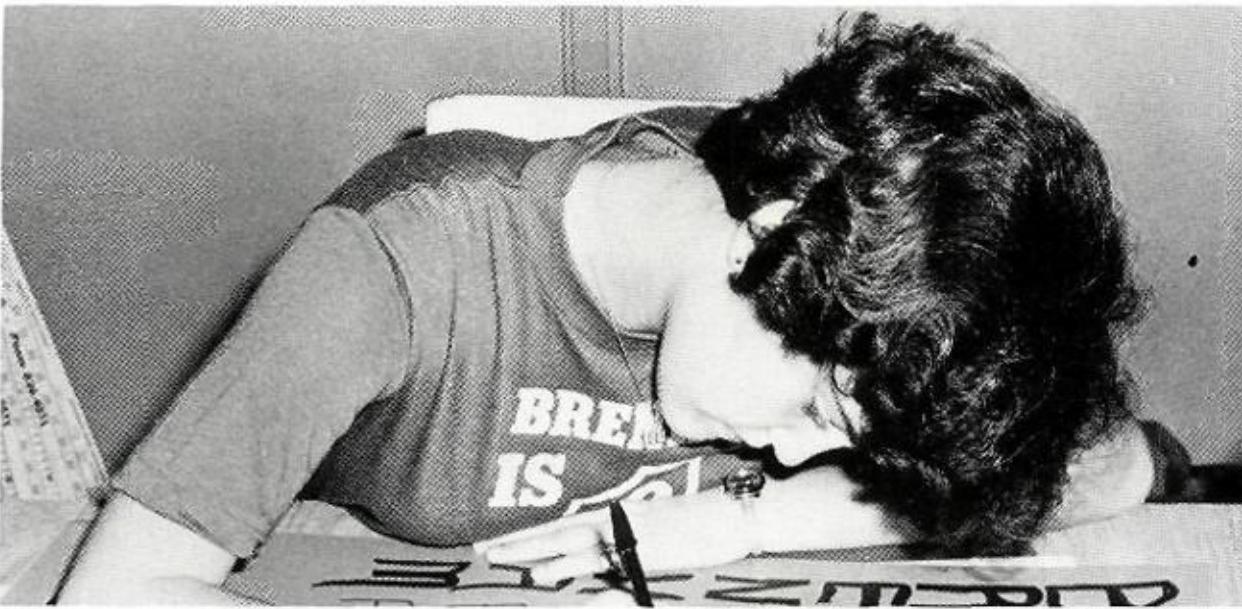

To be a member of the Student Council you must be qualified in the eyes of the students as well as with the club's qualification. You must obtain a B average in your academic grade as well as your social habits.

Of course many students meet this qualification but only a few have the leadership ability to step out and take command of our school's government.

The number of representatives is based on the number of homerooms. One representative is elected for each and one is at large. This goes for each class. Class officers are also part of the council. Therefore we had a council of sixty-three students.

Council Stays Busy

For those of you who think the Student Council hasn't done much this year, here is a summary of this year's activities.

They began the year with a registration assembly where the school leaders were introduced. After the assembly they conducted a freshman orientation complete with a tour of the school and a pep talk.

The club's first major task was putting the parking lot in order. This included getting every moving vehicle on campus to purchase a permit and trying to persuade the faculty to park one row over. These tasks were not easy.

Next, they progressed on to the elections of class officers and representatives. They loaded the entire council on a bus to go to Bay City for the fall convention.

After the election of homecoming queen, the Council began working on a bundle of special projects, such as presents for the young and the old at the State School. By sponsoring a Christmas door decoration contest and decking the halls with Christmas cheer, they spread the holiday spirit.

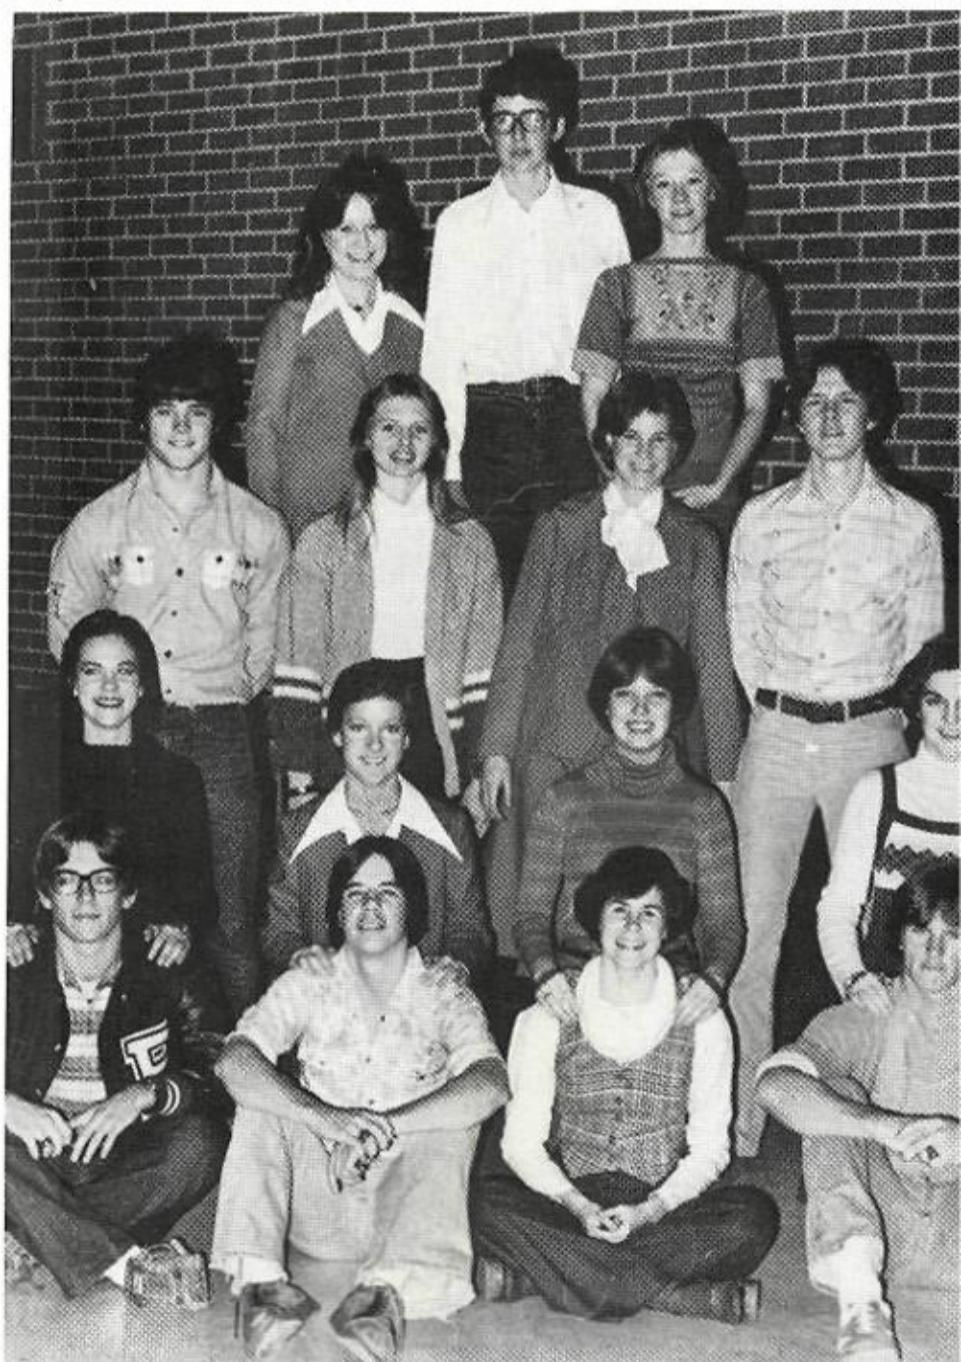

They brought back the tradition of ten outstanding seniors and held class favorite elections.

The Council attended the Spring CVASC convention in Katy where they were elected to the office of Parliamentarian. During the last part of the year they held their final money raising project, a talent show. So, you see, they have been quite busy.

Homeroom 403: Take Two

"Tilt your head a little to the left. The left! A little more. A little less. That's good. But now . . . scoot forward and give us a smile. Come on, give us a little smile. Yea!" CLICK!

And thus your class picture was made, and so you prayed for open eyes, well-combed hair, and a devilishly-cute smile. At least cute enough to trade pictures with those people who made your time at school more than just days stuck in an old, brick building. They made the year worth remembering both by yourself and by your friends.

Band Has Many Challenges

The 173 member band conducted by Mr. Maxwell placed second in the 3A Blinn Festival Marching contest. They also received excellent ratings in the marching contest in Round Rock. The first of the year, they stayed busy playing at the Cubs football games.

UIL Region band tryouts were held in Austin and Georgetown. On February 8, the band performed their winter concert, and on February 24 they marched in the Houston Livestock Parade.

Band Remembers Notes and Tunes

Everyone in the band has many responsibilities. Members must try their best to attend all the football games and pep rallies.

Remembering the notes and when to play them is very important and even keeping the uniform clean is a job that must be done.

Pep Rallies Spark Spirit

Among the yells to "Tie the Tigers down" to "Shoot the Birds" and the theme "Rocky," the pep rallies showed the spirit that can be mustered from a thousand students.

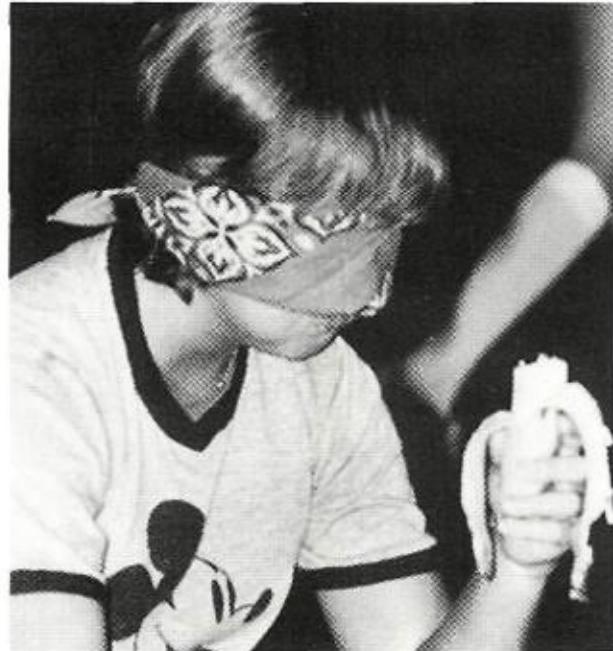

Sure, the silent minority was there but even they came alive when the band went into "Rubber Band Man." And the stands shook as the "Kickers" led us in "Go, go, get'um, get'um, ump, ah!"

Of course, there were the cheerleaders who jumped and yelled, and yelled and jumped, in desperate attempt to keep the spirit flowing. And flow it did, as different clubs got involved in the pep rallies; everything from mixed up firing squads to elaborate eagles appeared in the skits meant to show the Cub dominance.

Pep rallies had their serious moments too. When the coaches came forth and told us why we were winning, and why this particular game meant so much to them. But you can't always take them seriously because you never know what kind of turkey is going to walk up to the microphone next.

Juniors Order Class Rings

Juniors who were interested in purchasing an official senior ring were able to on January 20. Two representatives from Star Engraving were selling the rings.

There were some new and different styles to choose from. New stone inserts included "the Phantom," which is a design beneath the stone and "the Encrusting," a design of gleaming gold, deeply and permanently embedded in the top of the stone.

As for the rings themselves, there were three different colors, the yellow gold, the gold crown with a silver band, and white gold.

Those who purchased a ring received a free t-shirt.

Cheerleaders Win Spirit Stick Again

The cheerleaders brought forth new ideas. They sectioned the students by classification. This organized the pep rallies tremendously.

The cheerleaders attended a summer camp in which they won the spirit stick. They brought home the new spirit and many new cheers.

The mascot was Cheri O'Malley and the head cheerleader was Suzanne Perry. The sponsor was Mrs. Dannie Klebold.

Rallies Feature Skits, Dances

At the pep rallies, you sat bored wondering just what the connection was between what the cheerleaders were saying about "going down the river" and "partying hearty" and football. You didn't mind though; you were getting out of class.

Then you realized that what was said was not relevant, but what was happening was. The desire for victorious Friday nights was beginning to build in you, the rest of the student body who were present, and, most importantly, those guys we called the Cubs.

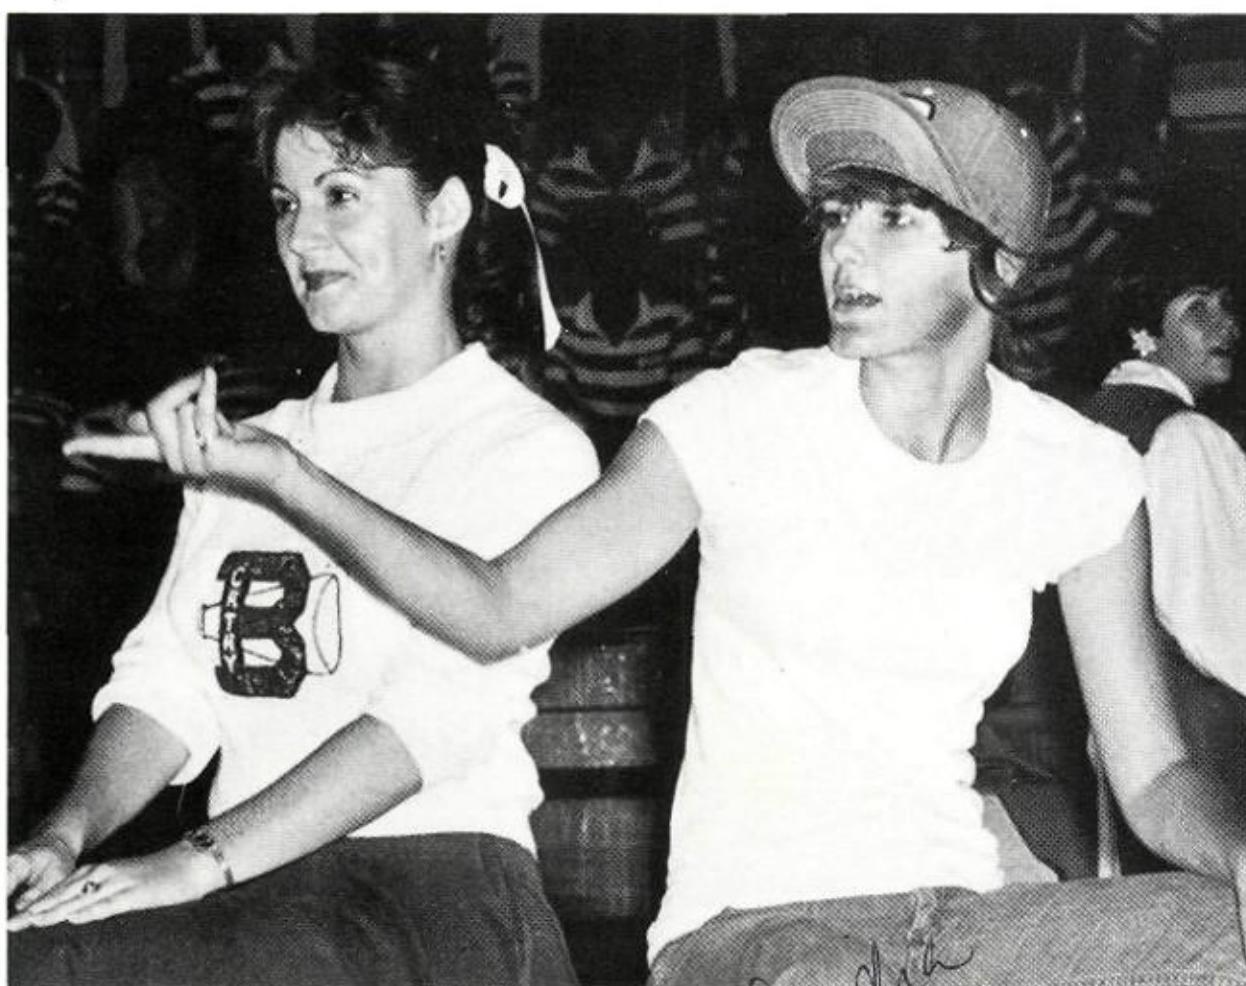

You started clapping your hands and stomping your feet and making all the noise that an excited fan tends to raise in support of his team, and in support of his class.

You sang all the words that you knew to the Alma Mater and you sat through the senior yell even if it didn't please you. And you even forgot that you were getting out of class.

Students Pictured Behind the Scenes

While some students spent their time sitting on a bench reading, others were busy giving a speech in front of class.

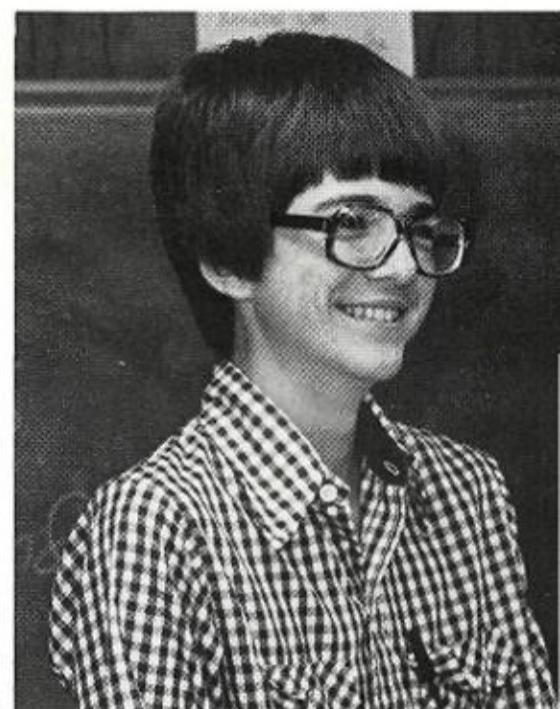

Some spent their time helping others break into cars, while others watched photographers take their pictures.

Many invested their time by sampling their own creations to see if they were fit for human consumption.

The conservative people just sat in the library all day attempting to finish their assignments so they could run around all night and have a good time.

Journalism II Uses New, Different Production Techniques

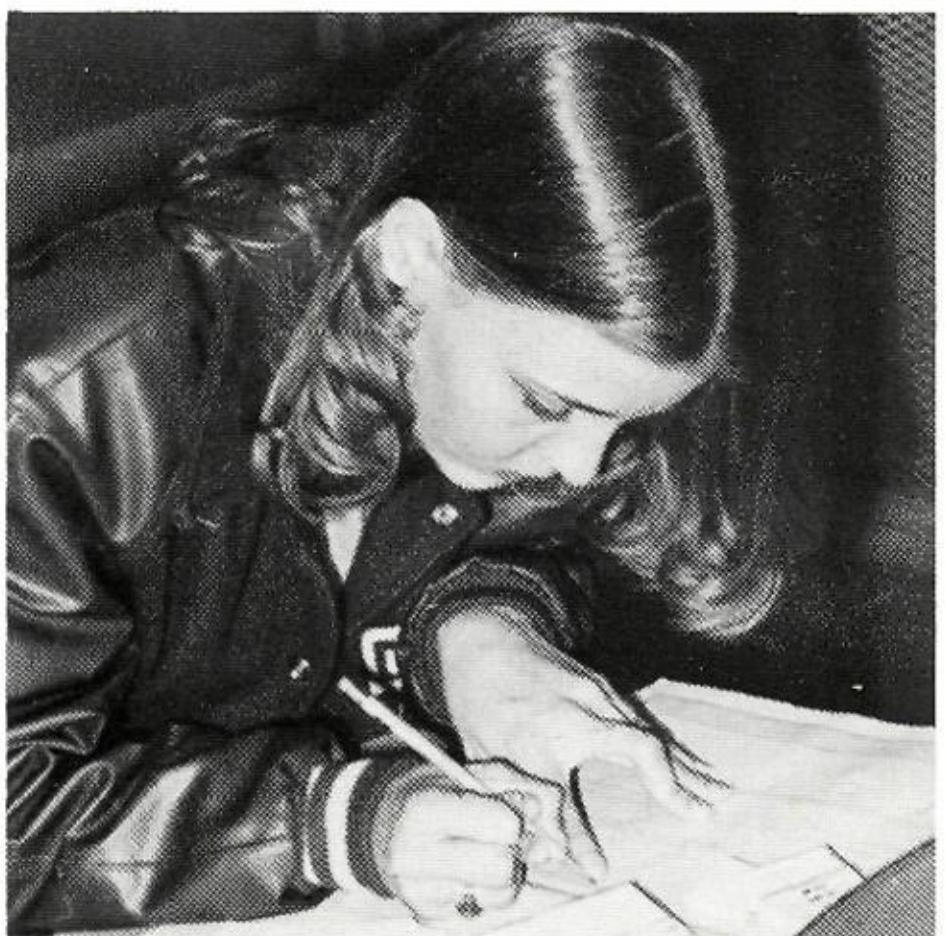

The staff of the Brenhamite worked and produced a yearbook with a different look and style. Placing the class pictures along the side of the page, increasing the number of color pages, and changing the style of much of the copy were some of the changes instituted by the staff.

Photographers were Ray Busby, Mark Whitehead, Sharon Campbell, and Russell LaRoe.

The darkroom duties were assigned to Ray Busby and Russell LaRoe.

Other staff members were Lorri Gaskamp, Jeron Williams, Mike Busby, Daniel Romo, Thomas Roehling, Mark Gaskamp, Alan Hutson, and Roger Eilers.

Twirlers Bring in New Drills

The twirlers were more than just part of the band.

Parades, football games, and contests of the band as well as separate twirling contests were among the events in which they participated.

They made up routines using two batons, fire, lighted batons, ribbon and hats. Having taped their music and made up their own routines they practiced during third period every day and after school.

Mrs. Deanna Alfred did the critiquing for the twirling of their routines.

Twirlers Champs Again

The majorettes won the Grand Champion Trophy for the second year in a row. In district Pam Dietz and Ann Dreyer placed first and second.

Out of a panel of three judges, five seniors and one sophomore were chosen for twirlers.

In order to try out a few qualifications had to be met. One must obtain a B+ average, be a member of the first band, have one year experience in marching band, and must try out with an original routine.

The twirlers kicked off the Mayfest parade and added pageantry to the Fat Stock parade in Houston. They twirled in the Cotton Bowl with the band in the parade of Champions.

Journalism I Does Cub Growl

The Journalism I staff worked to put out seven issues of the Cub Growl. The staff wrote the articles (which included features, editorials, and news), pasted up the pages, and sold the advertising that supported the paper.

The Banner-Press printed the papers which were distributed to the students by the Growl staff.

The 11 member staff consisted of: James Linville, editor-in-chief; Cathy Tabor, associate editor; Duane Luekemeyer, news editor; David Leibham, feature editor; the associate editor for business was Peter Fay and Hunt Giddings was the advertising manager.

Mark Whitehead was the chief photographer and Ray Busby and Russell LaRoe were photographers and darkroom technicians.

Benny Robbins and Debbie Reynolds were reporters for the paper.

Miss Linda Whitley served as adviser to the paper.

Seniors Go All the Way During Their Last Year

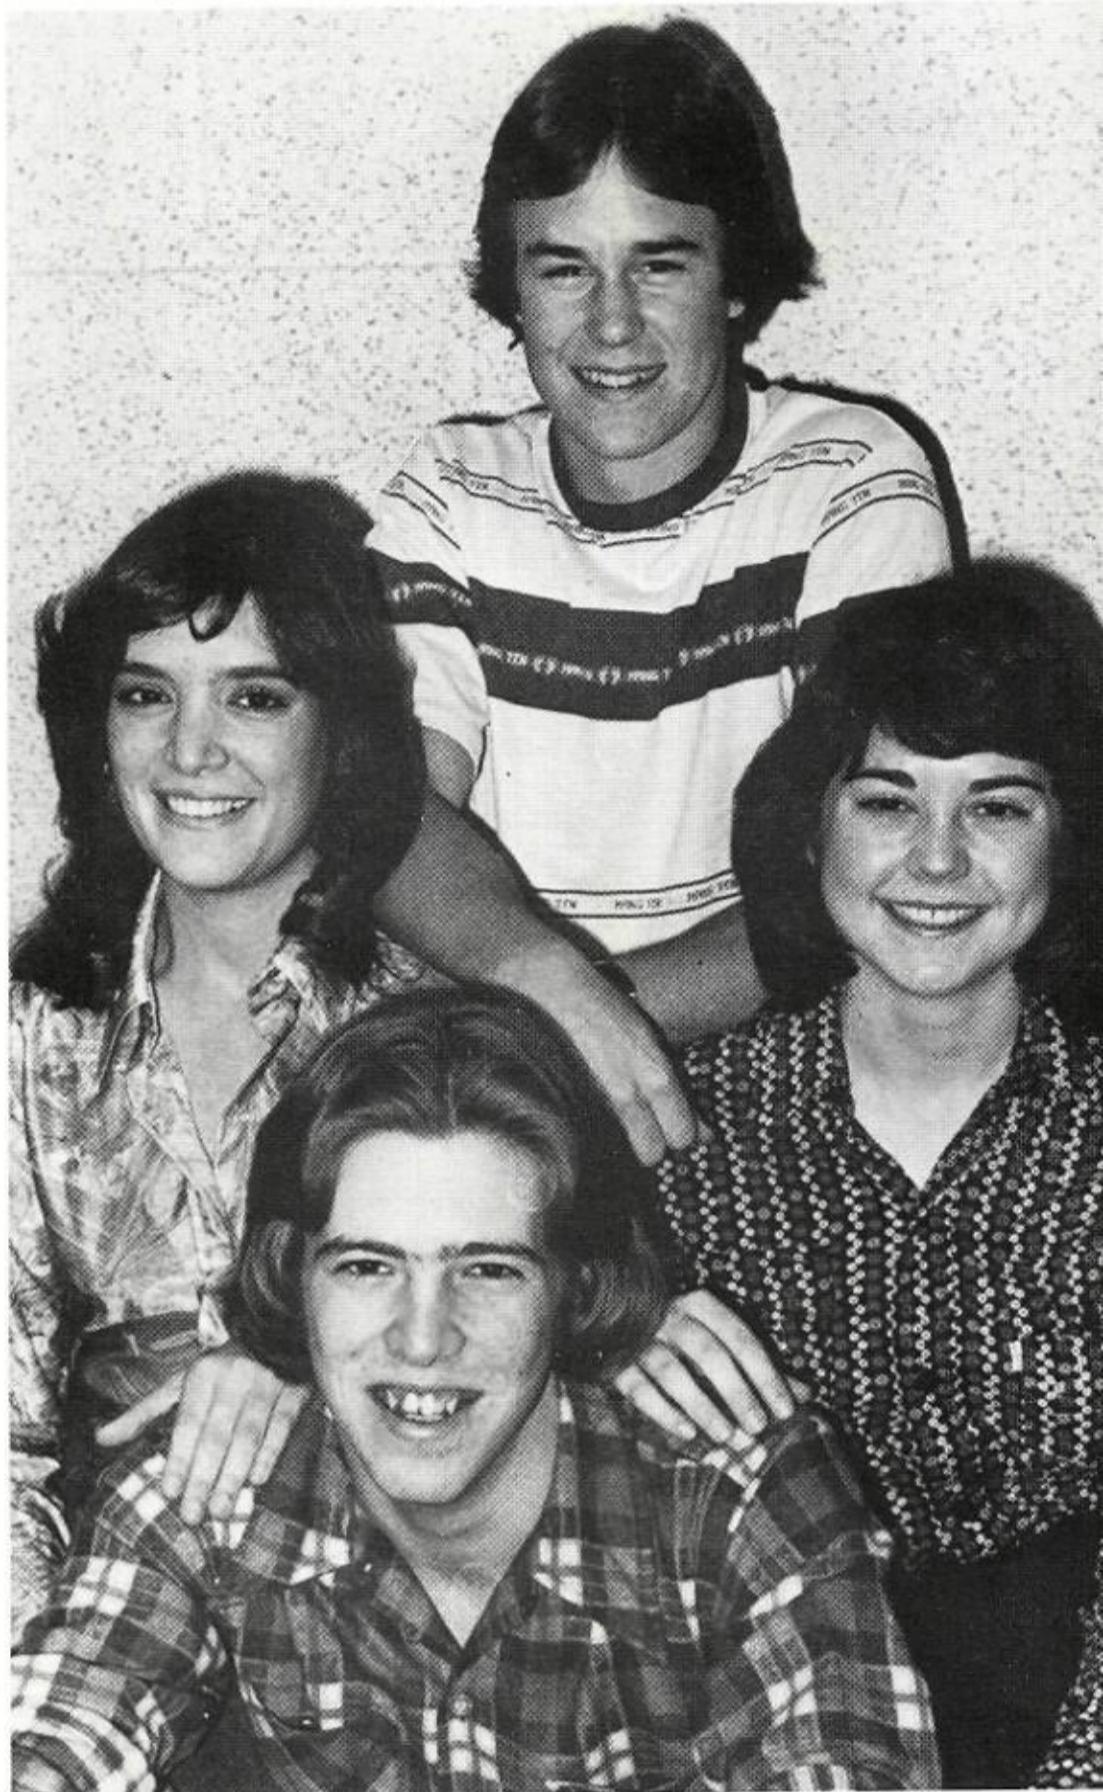

Between participating in band, preparing for homecoming, building, the bonfire, and various other activities, this year's Senior class went all out to stay as active as possible for their last year of high school.

At the beginning of the year the Seniors elected Gary Averitt, President; Joe Garnett, vice-president; Jennifer Hall, secretary; and Cheri O'Malley, treasurer. The Senior Board planned many activities for the class to carry out and a majority of the class participated. On a whole, the Senior class stayed pretty active throughout the year.

Belles Show Appreciation to the Cubs

As a tradition the Belles picked a Belle Beau which was Steve Whitaker, and he was presented with a stein.

To show their appreciation to the rest of the football team they baked two cakes.

The Belles attended a contest in Dallas in March, where they were judged on prop, kick, and jazz.

Belles Acquire New Director

The Belles got a new director, Mrs. Lisa Leutge.

The officers of the Belle were Captain Christi Haskins; Co-Captain, Paula Gregg; and Lieutenants Lorri Gaskamp and Regina Ellermann.

The Belles helped at the Booster Club barbecue again this year.

During football season the Belles are also responsible for selling the football tags.

The Belles had their tryouts for the new 1978-79 Belles in April.

Spanish Club Has Christmas Spanish Style

Members of the Spanish Club had to be enrolled in Spanish I, Spanish II, or have taken one of these courses in past years.

In December they kept up the tradition by having a Christmas party to see the Spanish side of Christmas. They also supplied and decorated the school tree.

Mr. Cy Rodgers was the sponsor of this club. The officers were Sharlynn Olney, president; Tim O'Malley, vice president; Angela Issack, secretary; Allen Phillips, treasurer; Betsy Evans and Tammy Ross, social chairmen.

Nothin' Much Days

Some come to learn and others just to talk, but if you ask someone, "What happened in English today?" the answer will most likely be "Nothing much."

Yet, it is those "nothing much" days that make your classroom days memorable and worthwhile. If "nothing much" days are the type of days you have most often, then those are the days you'll want to remember.

1. Charles Sanders and Phillip McNicoll lean against the counter in Mr. Rodgers' room as Phillip tries to get the teacher's attention. 2. Linda Schulz takes the title of the book seriously and laughs as she reads it. 3. Cheri O'Malley, Deborah Rodenbeck, Libby Garnett, Cathy Tabor and Lauren Harrison discuss their strategy for the straw towers project which they must complete as an assignment in Mrs. Alfred's speech class. The assignment was a group interaction project and the towers were later presented with a brief speech concerning their meanings.

Students Vary From Work to Whatever

There were times when you couldn't stay in your desk and do the regular old paper work. So to solve the problem you could always just do an experiment, talk to a friend, cheat, bake a cake, or whatever turned you on.

Anyway, whatever your choice of abnormal classroom activities was, it was sure to have helped pass the long classroom hours away.

1. Kyle Casburn and John Wright turn desk to aid conversation. 2. Don Prenzler and Jimmy Collins perform experiment in chemistry lab. 3. Katherine Januszewski and Linda Perry mix up recipe for homemaking. 4. Dale Proctor and Dwayne Brauner aid each other in assignment.

Spirit "Daze" Come

Crazy socks, and mis-matched ties combined with overalls, western wear, and "nifty-fifties" clothes to turn almost normal students into "Cub Crazies."

Overalls and ties ordained the bodies of not only students but of teachers who got into the act . . . who got the "spirit daze."

1. Dee Boehm participates in "Tie-ing" up the Tigers.
2. Shawn Grady aides the campus spirit by wearing fifties apparel.
3. Michael Hohlt decides that drawing socks on might save on the laundry.
4. Suspenders and overalls are worn to "Spirit Daze" the campus.
5. Karen McCroskey and Donna Kramer exhibit the nifty fifty attire.

Classes Have More Than Just Studies

There were times when students just sat in class and wondered what was to happen next. Students never really knew if the next thing they would be writing, studying, reading, or maybe just thinking, figuring, or of course the old favorite, talking.

Whatever the case was, students seem to have found more things to do than just sit and boringly pass the long class hours.

New Rules, Place, Same Old Blazes

The seniors of '78 worked many hours to make their bonfire the biggest.

The location of the bonfire was changed from the north side of the field to the south side.

Seniors started collecting wood a month ahead and had two days to work on it. They had three outhouses, one dog house and many loads of wood.

For a change they had good weather for their bonfire..

First Work and Then the Flames

With the lighting of the bonfire on Thursday night, the Homecoming activities officially started. Started, that is, for everyone but the band who had been marching all week and for the seniors who had been stacking wood for weeks. And stack wood they did to build the bonfire that showed the power of the upper class, the Seniors of '78.

1. Bonfire flames flare on into the night.
2. Gary Averitt prepares brush for bonfire.
3. The work goes on still after the sun sets.
4. Although the sun is already down there is no time to stop work.
5. Butch Addicks climbs bonfire to keep the work going.
6. Seniors work on bonfire while the sun shines to make best use of time.
7. Debbie Rodenbeck leads cheer to aid the bonfire pep rally.
8. Seniors keep everything going to the top.

Kathy Ahrens Named Queen

After the choosing of Homecoming Queen nominees by the senior class, the entire student body voted on the candidates and chose their queen.

Inside a heart formed by the Cub band, Kathy Ahrens was crowned Homecoming Queen; Jennifer Hall was named first runner-up; and Mary Beth O'Malley was second runner-up. 1-7. # Rally, Crowning, Game, Celebrate Homecoming

With the Homecoming days upon us, students adorned the garb of the niftier fifties and teachers temporarily took over exclusively student activities.

The music of the band and the crowning of the queen, within the Homecoming heart, to the song "I Can't Help Falling in Love" were the high points of the halftime ceremony at the game. The game was all disappointment as the A&M Consolidated Tigers dealt the Cubs 9-6 loss with a last minute field goal.

Students Aid Teachers, Office, Library

The office aides helped in many ways. They issued tardy slips to the students. They helped with the roll sheets and in typing whatever needed to be typed. They also were the ones who picked up the roll sheets each day.

The teacher aides were a great help to the teachers. They had several different jobs to do. They helped grade papers and run off copies of any paper the teacher needed. They ran errands for the teachers and made out tests for the teachers.

The library aides helped in the library by putting books on the shelf where they were supposed to be. They would help find books and had the job of putting new books in order on the shelf.

Students Find Pastimes to Break Boredom

Around campus there was a lot more that went on besides just the usual studying. There were times when one felt as if he just had to stop and take it easy.

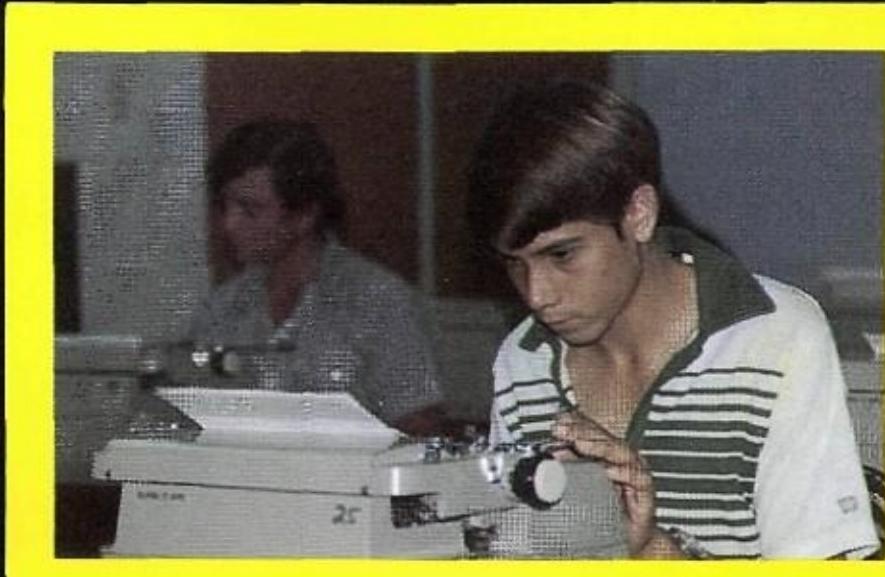

Although we didn't have to walk to school in four miles of snow like our parents did, we did somewhat get perturbed with the same old everyday run-a-mile routine.

Nevertheless the school day did not stop, for there was still work to be done and problems to be solved. In any case, school could be a time and place for work and play.

FHA Participate in National FHA Week

The Future Homemakers of America participated in many events during the 1977-78 year.

They elected their two sweethearts which were Mike Brau and Devery Parker for the two chapters.

Members attended an area meeting in Houston on March 11, and a State meeting in Dallas.

Each year the FHA has a national week. During this week they presented the homemaking teachers with a live plant to be placed in the homemaking living room.

The FHA members baked cookies, cakes, and many other items for the teachers and they also gave a party to some of the residents of the Brenham State School.

Juniors Do What Counts

The junior class chose Darrell Boenker, president; Libby Garnett, vice-president; John Ragland, secretary; and Greg Rybarski, treasurer.

The officers planned such activities as the candy sale, which profited $2,400 for decorations for the prom. The class play netted $325 profit. They also planned the junior-senior prom which was held in the spring.

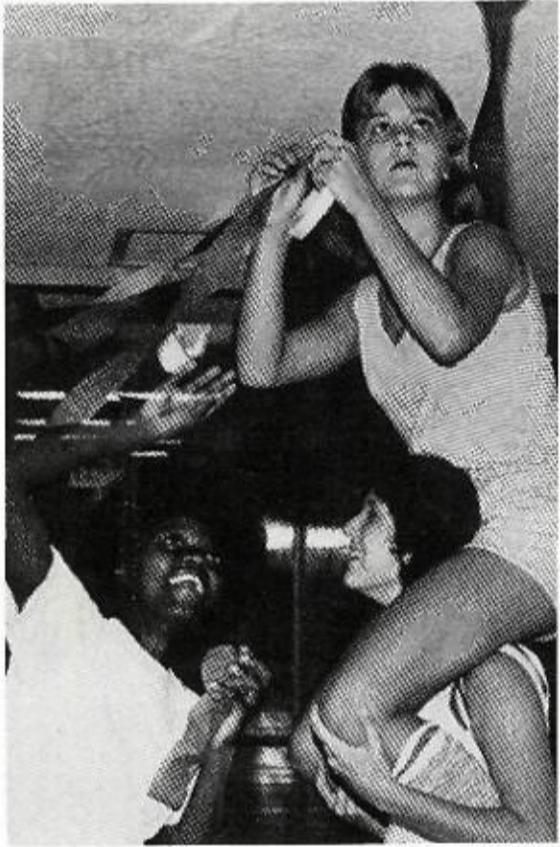

Favorites were Lee Twiggs and Benita Roberts.

Honor Society Requires More Than Grades

The National Honor Society seeks to generate enthusiasm, scholarship, and leadership.

The Society is used to encourage service, and the members are screened from the top ten percent of the junior class.

Seniors are selected from the top fifteen percent.

These students are to have an average of at least 90 for the last semester. Those students who are selected are to possess the qualities of service, leadership, and character.

1. Zachary Heckmann and Robert Stewart during the National Honor Society assembly.
2. Ann Dryer speaks about the late President Kennedy and the qualities of scholarship.
3. Cathy Tabor talks on Lincoln and the character that he possessed.

Corps Adds New Spark to Halftime Activities

In June tryouts were held for the new Flag Corps. Twelve girls were selected by a panel consisting of Mr. Wayne Maxwell, Mr. Mark Pease, and the drum majors.

Darla Syler and Cindy Hamerick were selected as co-captains of the squad which consisted of four seniors, two juniors and six sophomores.

The Band Parents Club organization provided the uniforms for the group which was to add color to the band performances.

While many of their routines were worked out by the Corps itself at their after-school practices, some were learned at camps and workshops throughout the year. Mr. Pease helped critique the practices and performances for the corps.

The Flag Corps participated in all of the halftime shows at football games, went with the band to contest, and marched in parades, including Cotton Bowl Parade of Champions.

Jets Visit Science Academy

Only seniors who have taken or are enrolled in physics or Chemistry II are eligible for membership in the Junior Engineering Technical Society.

Officers were Michael Hohlt, president; Joe Garnett, vice-president; Kyle Dannhaus, treasurer; and Lauren Harrison, secretary. Mr. Jim Van Eman sponsored the club.

JETS took field trips to the Alcoa Aluminum Plant in Rockdale, the Breeder Reactor at the University of Texas, and science labs in neighboring towns. Their tours of these plants gave them insight into the types of work and career opportunities available in the science field.

1. Brian Dickschat furthers his study in physics.

In the later part of the year the different classes elected favorites in one of the most controversial elections ever held at Brenham High School. A one-round voting process was used to insure that representation was equal for the majority as well as the minorities.

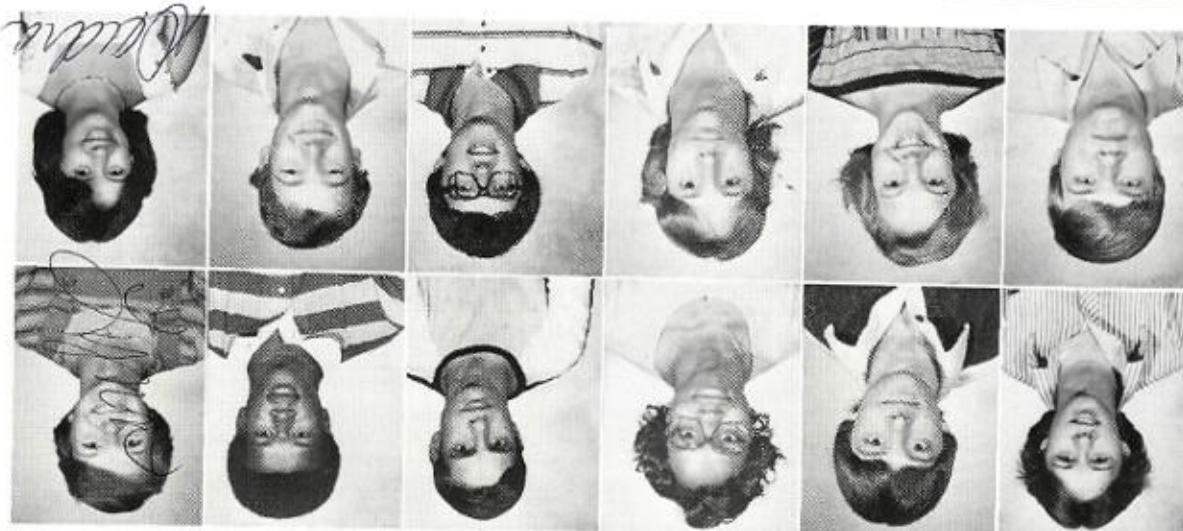

After the election was held, there were congratulations as well as complaints which raised the question of, "How can a whole class have just two favorite students?"

1. The Senior class favorites are Alvin Hall and Ella Marshall.
2. The Junior class favorites are Benita Roberts and Lee Twiggs.
3. The Sophomore class favorites are Janice Walker and D. A. Ervin.
4. The freshmen class favorites are Michelle Wright and Perry Lott.

Try-Outs, Practice, Then the Show

First there were the try-outs, then choosing of the cast, and then organizing of the crews before the Seniors could perform the play of "Arsenic and Old Lace." There were many hours of hard work on behalf of the crew and cast before this favorite classic could hit the stage of Brenham High School. So if it wasn't for the behind the scenes work, this, or any play, maybe could not have been performed.

Students Train on Jobs

Industrial Cooperative Training offered an opportunity for students to learn job skills while working at the type of job in which they had an interest.

Some of the types of jobs included mechanics, farm and ranch related occupations such as welding and repairing farm machinery, as well as a wide range of other fields.

Girls in Vocational Office Education were taught to run office machines, such as typewriters, adding machines, dictaphones and office duplicators. They typed stencils, tests, school programs and other types of forms to give them practice. In addition, these girls held jobs in secretarial fields in the community.

Officers of ICT were: Dale Procter, president; Mark Murphy, vice-president; Thomas Moehlmann, secretary; Paul Murski, treasurer; Gary Koerth, reporter; Mark Seeger, parliamentarian, and Don Dahmann, sergeant at arms.

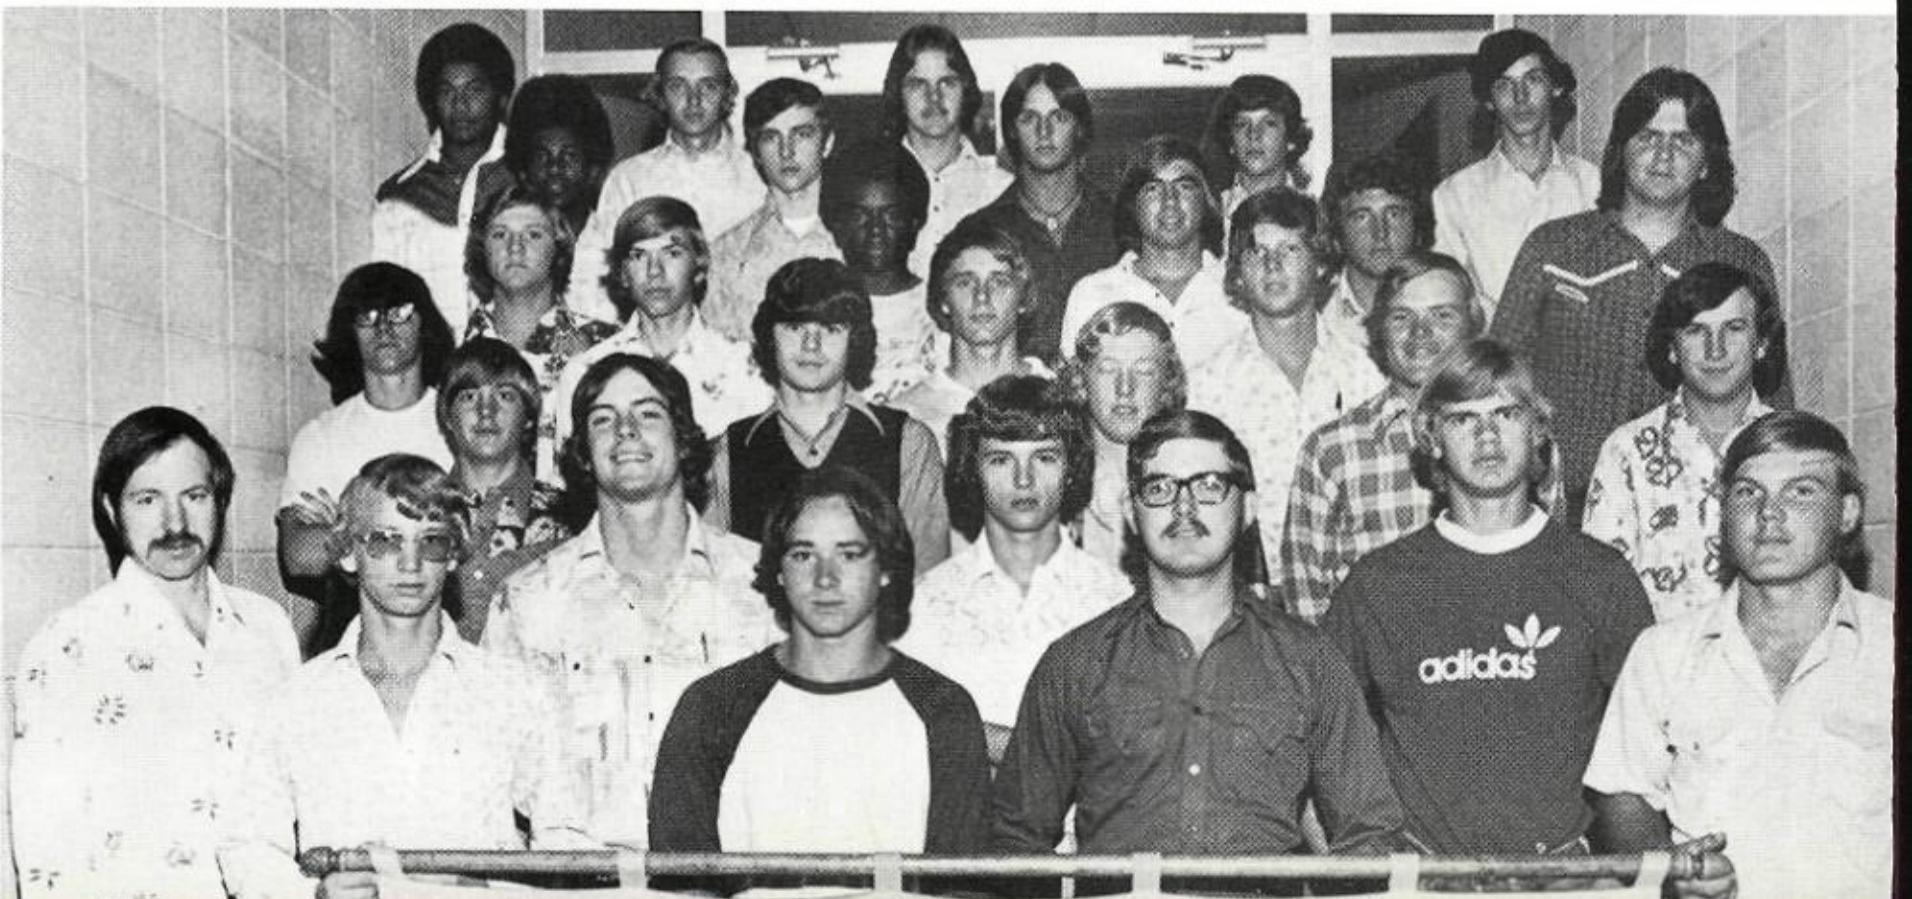

Officers of VOE were: Kathy Ahrens, president, Sandra Voger, vice-president, Sandra Derkowski, secretary; Cheryl Zwahr, treasurer, LaTrell Brinkmeyer, reporter, Debbie Schulze, parliamentarian; and Sharon Dittert, historian.

Students Learn From Work

When students get spare time during the 55 minute class period they tend to find something to do with the extra time. Some chose to sleep, while others clean their fingernails or tell a neighbor a good joke.

But still you have those who chose to work in the library, while others will spend time criticizing hall arrangements. But there are those who will actually work in class.

Health Careers Hears Wachholy

The Health Career Club hosted a program with Mr. Wachholy from Home Health during the month of February. Mr. Wachholy spoke on all areas of the club.

The purpose of the club is to give the students a basic understanding of the field.

The first occupation education programs were developed in Texas. The program was started in Brenham High School in 1976.

The program correlates with supervised on-the-job training and work experience with related class instructional material.

Students Show Academic Skills

The University Interscholastic League contests are held every spring. This competition requires academic skills, often overlooked, but is what school is all about. It gives students opportunities to compete with students from around the state. These contests let them show what they have learned during the school year.

Two students earned chances to compete at regional contests. Cathy Tabor placed 3rd in Editorial Writing and Tammy Ahrens placed 5th in Typing.

Sophomores Join the Rest of Us

The members of the sophomore class had almost joined the ranks of the juniors and seniors as upper-classmen. They no longer warrant the title of "fish." But a close eye still had to be kept on the sophomores, for some of them tended to resort back to their former ways as frosh. But just looking at the sophomore class one must admit they had earned recognition as sophomores. Besides who else could take their place.

BHS Shows Talent

First there were the auditions, next the nervousness and finally your moment on the stage during the show.

In early May, Brenham High School students presented one of the largest and most versatile talent shows ever held on the BHS auditorium stage. Acts ranged from dancing to singing to speeches and even plain old humor.

Mistress of ceremonies Debbie Kenjura said that it "showed a lot of enthusiasm," and she hopes it will raise interest in future shows.

Student Council sponsored the show. Deanna Alfred, Student Council sponsor, said, "The show was a great success and raised a lot of money for more Student Council activities.

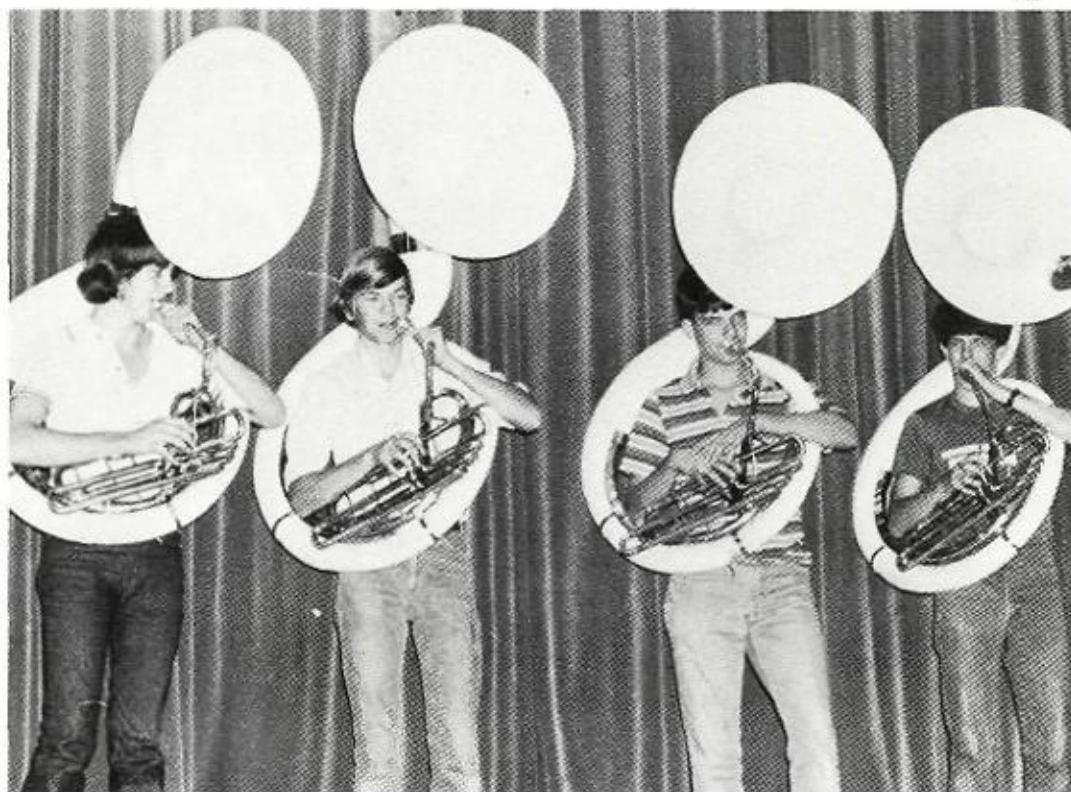

1. Paula Gregg exhibits her dancing ability with explicit emotion. 2. Cheerleaders Kelly McLendon, Marybeth O'Malley, Cheri O'Malley and Suzanne Perry act out their possible future careers. 3. The tuba quartet, composed of Ken Ham, Tommy Hermann, Butch Ordner and Charles Sander, perform during the show. 4. Lauren Harrison and Ann Dreyer do a skit learned at Girl Scout camp. 5. # Future Planning Preregistration was held March 14th for Freshmen and Juniors and March 15th for sophomores. Mrs. Clara Lemm and Principal Clarence Whitesell outlined the courses that will be offered to the student body during the 78-79 school year. Mr. Calvin Kossie visited classes and personally helped the students with their preregistration cards. In the vocational department, Mr. Wilfred Krause advised students planning to work part time next year.

1. Mrs. Clara Lemm explains the courses that will be offered next year. 2. Lee Ann Lehmann and Linda Perry discuss next year's plans. 3. Paul Hightower tries to figure out the sheets given to him at the preregistration assembly. 4. Freshman, Michael Randermann is thinking deeply of his next three years at high school. 5. Karen Borchardt wants to know what Tim O'Malley is doing. 6. Paula Diver listens closely to the speaker. 7. Dink McDonald observes his preregistration materials.

Key Clubbers Raise Funds

During football season Key Club members ushered at games. They also helped Cub spirit by doing a skit at the pep rally. At basketball and baseball games they had concession stands.

They also did many things around town to help different fund raising projects such as March of Dimes, Muscular Dystrophy and the Cancer Fund and helped the Heritage Society find Christmas trees.

The Key Club is the junior division of the Kiwanis. Officers were James Reue, president, Mike Hohlt, vice president, Gary Averitt, secretary, and Robert Stewart, treasurer.

Burch Leads Freshman Class

Students chosen to lead the freshman class are Nancy Burch, president; Sharon Dietz, vice-president; Rachel Witaker, secretary; and Keith Vesper, treasurer.

Freshman find out that they are the youngsters in school and are taunted by the upper classmen with the word "fish."

They also find out that high school offers many different subjects to chose from and a various selection of clubs to join.

So look out freshmen, you have a good choice ahead of you and only three years left of school.

New Cheering Squad Added for JV Teams

Another new outlook came with the formation of a new cheerleading squad to cheer on the junior varsity teams.

It was the result of a Student Council referendum, on which the majority of the students voted in favor of having JV cheerleaders.

The cheerleaders helped the varsity cheerleaders in some of their activities such as pep rallies and the making of signs.

The junior varsity cheerleaders were Katie Garnett, Carla Gustafson, and Laurie Davis. They were under the supervision of Mrs. Dannie Klebold.

Stairway to Heaven a Satisfying Evening

There were many weeks and months of planning for the prom. The junior class decided on the theme "Stairway to Heaven". The band Triumphs was chosen to provide the music. Many weeks of preparation were necessary to decorate for and construct the prom setting. The prom was held on Friday, May 19. The sophomore serving boys and girls were costumed as angels, and performed a dance at the first intermission.

Many people put in a helping hand, but it takes a leader to get it all together. Elizabeth Smith and Crispin Faykus were the chairmen of the decorating committee. Construction chairmen were Paul Kostial and John Ragland.

Juniors Prepare Heavenly Prom

There were many things to see during the prom. Juniors used imagination in planning the prom. For the food there were grapes as moon drops, punch as the sky mist, pineapple represented halos, mints were the angels' breath, and the fountain used was the shooting star. The decorations around the hall included many stars hanging from the ceiling, a harp and two silhouettes.

Lunch Period for Relaxation

During the year the student body spent their time for lunch at various places and in various ways. A number of the students spent their time off campus for lunch. But there were those who had no means of leaving campus for lunch — so were left with the cafeteria. The ones who were fortunate enough to leave campus for lunch saw it as a time to get away from the dreariness of class. This was the only time to relax for students without open concept.

1. Karen Borchardt listens to what her friends have to say.

Seniors Give the Chain

Each year a traditional event occurs at Brenham High School in which the Senior class officially turns over its position to the Juniors. This event is known as Daisy Chain.

The 1978 Daisy Chain was somewhat different because, due to lack of time, the prophecy of the Senior class was cut short in order to allow time for the exchanging of the Daisy Chain. After the exchange, there was a procession of Juniors and Seniors in which each one received a daisy and moved to next year's seating section.

Juniors Receive Responsibilities

The Daisy Chain assembly was held on May 18. This is the day when the juniors receive the responsibilities of a senior.

Before the passing of the dairy chain, the seniors' history was read. Then the will was read to everyone and next the prophecy. There was entertainment when the serving boys and girls of last year's prom did a dance to "Surfing USA."

Later the chain was turned. The juniors took their place in the senior section. The senior class president Gary Averitt led his class in their senior yell and junior class president Darrell Boenker led his class in their yell.

After the Daisy Chain, the juniors received their senior rings.

Top Seniors Chosen Again

The renewing of an old tradition has brought back the naming of the Top Ten Seniors.

The seniors were chosen by both the faculty and students. Many of the students were active in boys or girls athletics, attended either Boys' or Girls' State, were active in student government, and all participated in extracurricular school activities.

Senior Class Ends Year in Big Way

With reflections of the past and speculations on the future, the occasionally dewy eyed graduates of the senior class of '78 held their commencement exercises on May 26.

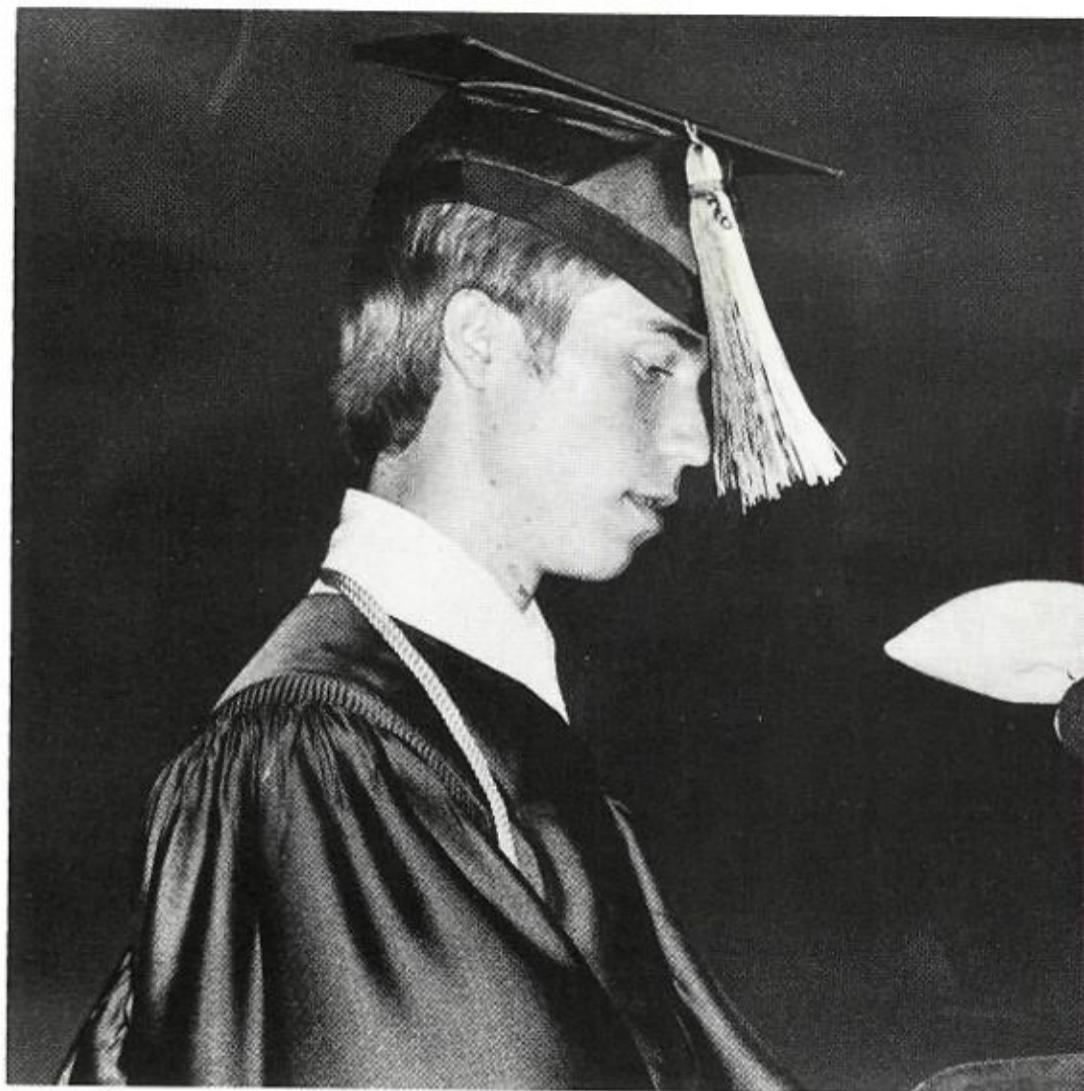

Gil Stricklin was the guest speaker at the ceremony as each graduate reminisced a collage of memories, memories of the happy, sad, serious, and fun moments of the year.

The graduates were leaving behind the seemingly never changing daily routine, the ever-important morning announcements, forged notes, and the fear of what might happen if you didn't "get to class." They were leaving these behind for the summer, work, or college.

1. Valedictorian Bobby Pfenning delivers his address.
2. Mr. Gil Stricklin delivers the guest speech.
3. Donna Hunter and Michael Brown wait nervously to line up.
4. Susan Boeker gives the opening prayer.
5. Ann House looks over the program.
6. The seniors wait for the procession to begin.

Administration Office Gets New Leader

Among this year's changes was one in the administration. Dr. Edwin Casburn became the new superintendent during the summer and brought with him many new ideas which were slowly incorporated into the district programs.

Mr. Clarence Whitesell and Mr. Henry Pettie remained in control at the high school.

Teaching More Than 8-4 Job

Teaching. That word which to students means the person who gives them "unnecessary" homework, test, and in general tries to make life miserable, has an entirely different meaning to those who have chosen it as a career.

To teachers, it means having to get to school by 8 a.m., sponsoring any number of extracurricular activities for students, being on duty instead of eating lunch, filling out reams of forms to satisfy state requirements, staying until 4 p.m. and then taking home 50-pound loads of papers to be graded so they can be handed back soon enough for the students to benefit from having done the assignment.

Yes, teaching is not an 8-to-4 job with two months off in the summer. It is more like an 8 to midnight job which requires the two months to recover so it can be undertaken next year.

Teachers Use Many Techniques

Every teacher has his or her own personal way of getting those black words from those thick books into the innocent minds of the student body.

Some stand in front of a podium and lecture, while others keep telling their "kids" to read and keep quiet.

1. Mr. Charles Sander gives homework assignments to his government class.
2. Mr. Robert Loesch advises Roger Seilheimer on one of his many jobs.
3. Mr. Kenneth Wiederhold shows why he is a specialist in all fields of study.
4. Mrs. Lota Kulhanek, English teacher, passes a kindly smile to one of her students.

Teachers Have Their Share of Homework

The faculty does more than simply grade papers and lecture.

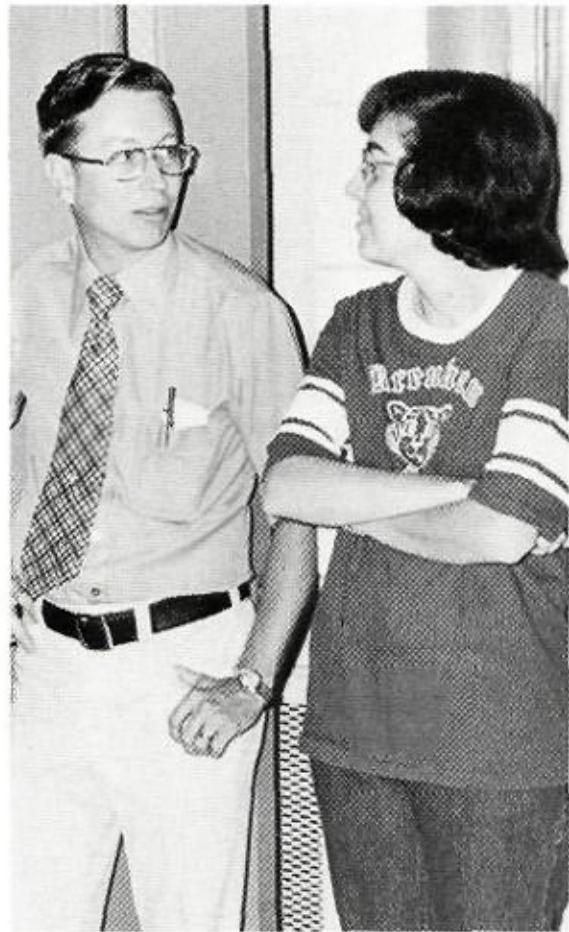

Most teachers really want to help their students learn something during the year, although one may think they do not.

Just because they may get uptight and out of sight every now and then, from some little thing a student has done, does not mean they would like to hang him from his toes until he turns blue.

They do forgive and forget. But if the student continues to do those little things, he may find himself congregating with, the "main" man, Mr. Whitesell.

Torturing Tests Thrill Teachers

Teachers choose a number of ways to torture students, but the most frequently used method is tests.

Tests are supposed to find out how much a student has learned about the subject, according to the teachers.

These tests come in all shapes and forms and range from short "pop quizzes" to 10-page quarter exams. They may be true-false, multiple choice (more correctly identified as multiple guess), easy, fill-in-the-blank, short answer or matching, but they are all designed for the same purpose — to get a grade.

Faculty on the Job

Members of the faculty will find lots of ways to teach class and do their jobs. Some set up science labs, or give the students study periods. There are as many different methods as staff.

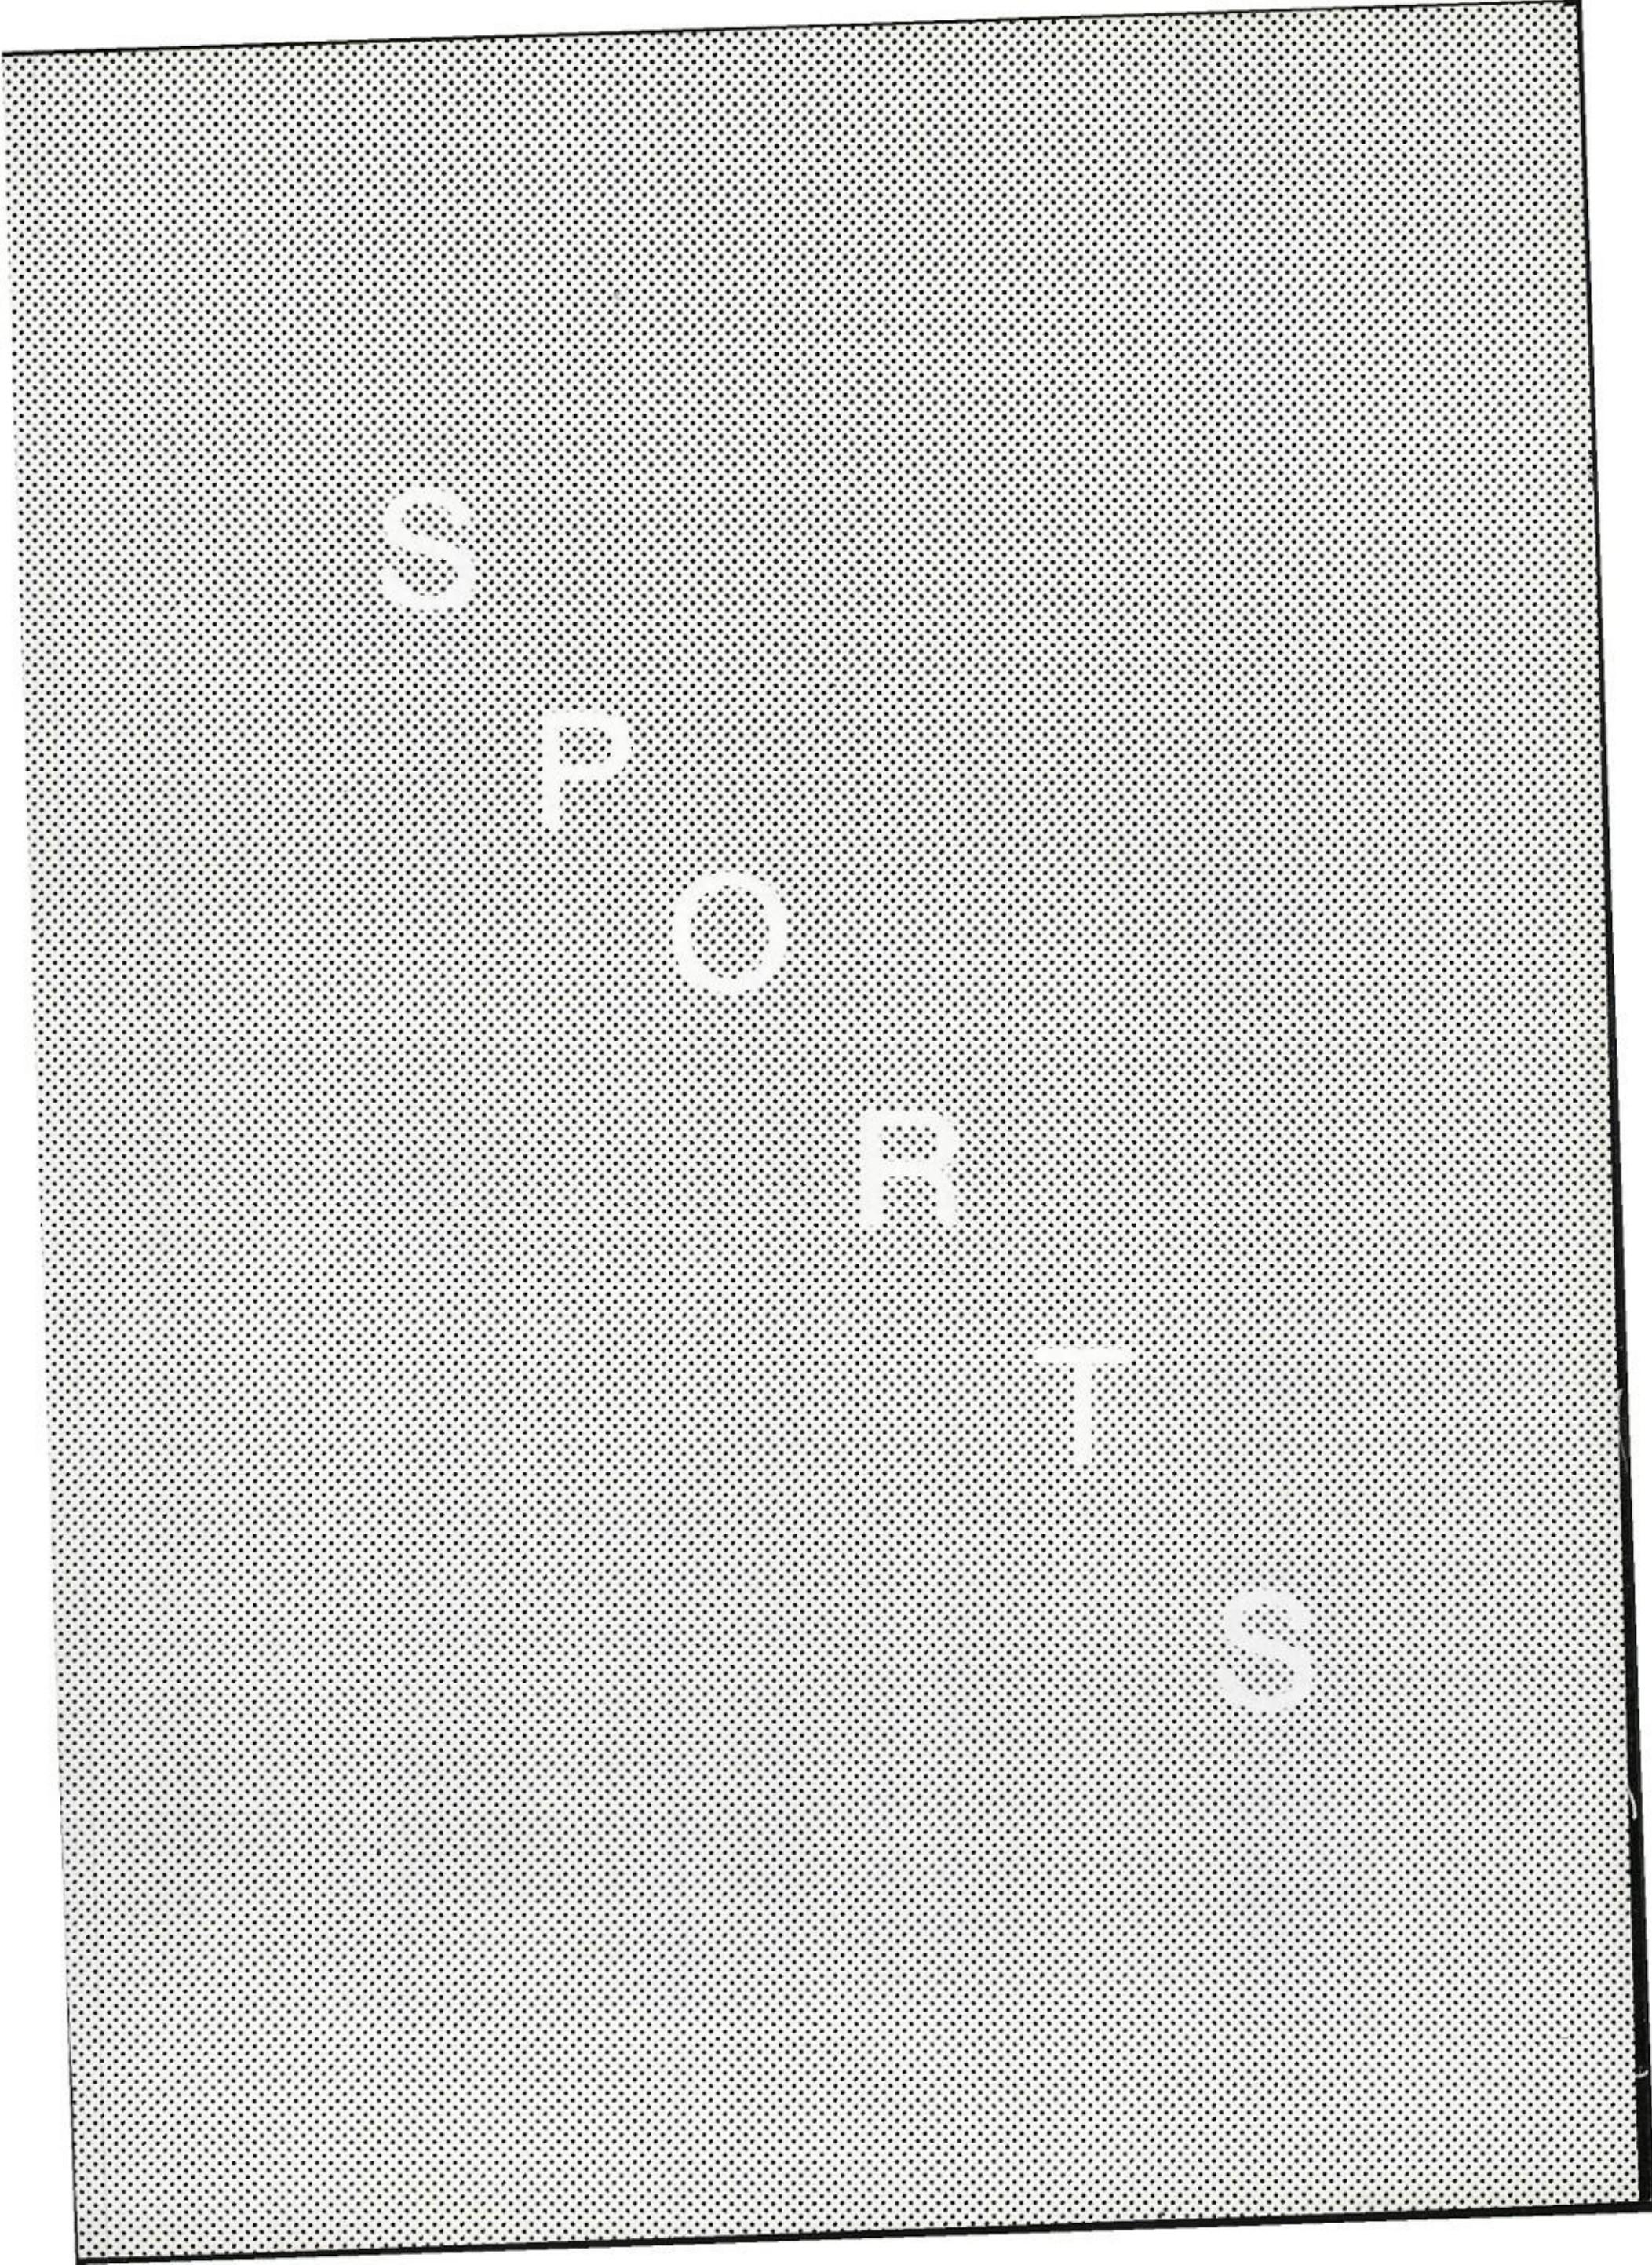

1. Mr. Paul Pipes sits while answering a student's question.
2. Mr. Henry Pettie watches to keep his "little children" from going places other than their classrooms, while Darrell Boekner heads for class.
3. Mr. Stanley Sommers stands straight and tall to point out problems on the board.

Cubs Third in District

In the first three games the Cubs downed Rockdale, 14-10, Waco Connally, 32-7, and Aldine Eisenhower, 15-14, but lost the next two games to Columbus, 18-6, and Cuero, 33-0.

Coming back to defeat Tomball, 13-6, the Cubs then lost to Huntsville, 41-12. Another loss, this time at the hands of the A&M Consolidated Tigers, 9-6, compounded the sorrows since it was Homecoming night.

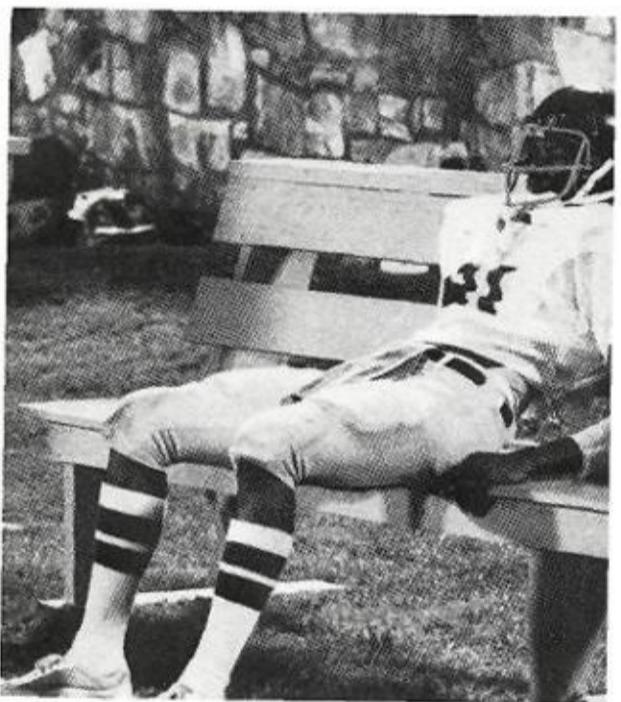

Bouncing back to win a tough battle against Navasota, 8-0, the Cubs then went on to win their last game of the season against Katy, 22-14. Ending the season with a 6 and 4 record, the Cubs were third in district.

JVs Finish Third in District

On August 8, the J.V.'s hit the practice field for their two-a-day workouts. They were coached by Conley Brown and Bruce Bramlett.

During the two weeks the coaches got the players in shape and taught them new skills. They improved themselves by going against the varsity.

The J.V. ended the season with a 5-4 record and third in district.

Frosh End Season With 6-3-1 Record

From the first day of workouts the freshmen learned new skills, and how to become a competitive team.

The workouts started out at two a day for two weeks. Then came the pads and along with them came the J.V. team to practice against.

The freshmen opened the season with a win over Rockdale, 14-0, which set the tempo for the season finishing with a 6-3-1 record, and first place tie with Navasota in district.

Basketball Team Ends Non-District With Twelve Wins

From the first day of practice the Cubs learned agility, and shooting ability, and with a lot of determination the Cubs opened against Cameron, winning, 57-56. The Cubs then went on to win the next four games.

The Cubs played in three tournaments, placing in two; took first in their own tourney, and Norris Pruett and Willie McDonald were chosen All-Tourney.

In the Columbus Tourney the Cubs didn't place but Willie McDonald was chosen All-Tourney.

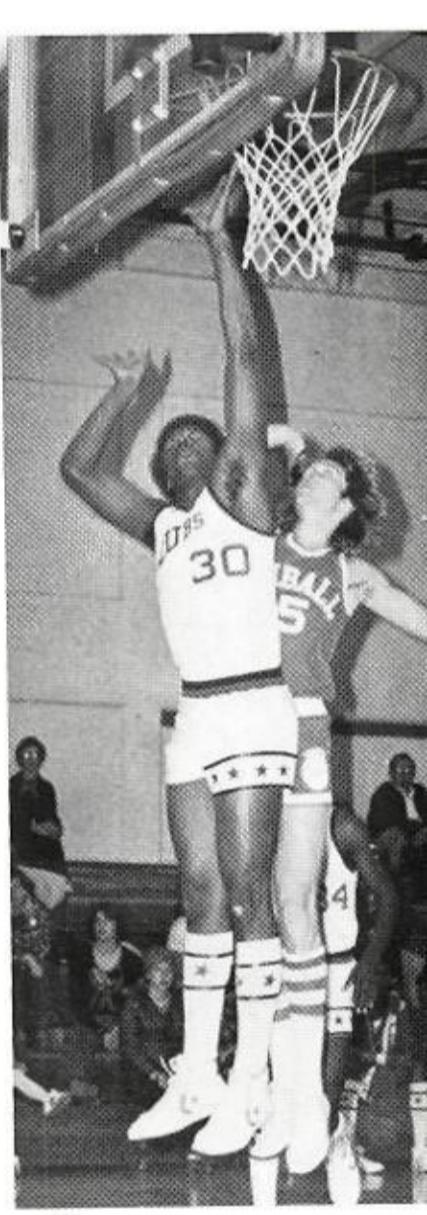

At Taylor Pruett was chosen most valuable player, McDonald All-Tourney, the Cubs again took first place. The cubs averaged 55.2 points per season game.

Dee,

You're a junior now - aren't you bad <sup>just</sup> joking
We really haven't been friends for along time.
but for as long as John S. Garnett we've been friends it's been great. Remember Belles - one more time & lets see it again. We did have some good times though, riding the bus to football games, going to the beach at contest etc. Texaco I hope that we can become closer friends in the future
Good luck in everything that you do.

Be Sweet

New Outlooks on Tradition

What we now know as traditions were at one time new to other students. This includes everything from homecoming to the daisy chain. Many of the things that have changed this year will become tradition. Twenty years from now students at Brenham High School will not think anything of sitting by classes in the gymnasium during pep rallies or sitting on the press box side at the football stadium. These were some of the new outlooks at Brenham High School this year. Our new outlooks will become other generations' traditions.

1. Russell Laroe, Peter Fay, Michael Hohlt, Marybeth O'Malley, and Sharlynn Olney show a typical day in Trig. 2. Lisa Boenhke struggles through an algebra test. 3. Linda Perry is rallied-out at the Student Council convention. 4. David Sommerfeld, Dale Proctor, David Rodenbeck and Jody Pruess load up another truck to build the bonfire. 5. Melissa Clepper proof reads what she has typed. 6. Mike Busby files index cards for the yearbook. 7. Tommy Moehleman works on the bonfire preparation. 8. Regina Ellermann and Sharon Dietz make out their name tags at the student council convention.

This BRENHAMITE climaxes the year 1977-1978 at BHS. It was an honor and a privilege to be able to compile the pictorial record of a great year.

If this book will in some way preserve the friendship we shall hold so dearly; if you look at this book and smile as you feel the pleasures and joys you felt in the year just gone; if it will serve to bridge the past and bring back to mind just a few of the priceless memories, then we the staff of BRENHAMITE '78 have accomplished what we set out to do.

Dee,
you and I have been friends for a long time. I hope our friendship will continue in the years to come. We only have two more years in high school & I hope our friendship can grow. If you ever need someone to talk to I'm always ready to listen. Best of luck in all you do &
May God Bless You.

You've been a fun friend to have around all these years. You've got great artistic talent (it makes me sick) and a charming personality. Have a terrific year. Love you.

Well Dee -
we're here now
as Juniors. We've been through a lot but we still manage to survive. I just want to tell you that no matter what happens I will always love you.

Love,
Rodney

Dee, here we are again. Who would take this.
Well, we have to binish friends for a few forever to get rid of them. We've been through everything. The good but more memories will be missed each test. But, we have one night, Sherrilebutte's came and will be missed in old and the bad. Well, we have some in passed each test. I guess After this and the fun times that were gathered and how we barely passed Remembers the fun times that were passed away well, I guess room and the times that were summed up in, so be sweet those were great times. I hope you care.
those were great times. I hope you care.
